FRENCH SENATORIAL ELECTIONS AT HAND

Enemies of the Combes Government Issue Manifestoes, but Are Not Over-Bold.

ONE-THIRD OF SEATS AFFECTED

Principal Points of Attack Upon Cabinet Are Financial Situation and Movement Against Congregationalists.

BY J CORNELY SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE NEW YORK HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC. Barls, Dec. El. (Copyright, 1992)-Nearly I the Parliaments of Europe being at prest in insurrection, the French Chamber Deputies has not desired to humiliate them by remaining peaceful and last week it indulged in a terrible sitting.

The Nationalists are absolutely bent upon mpromising the Republic ever the Humbert affair and affect to believe that the Ministers do not want to arrest the Humberts because they are afraid of revelations which would east dishonor on the present political regime.

It was along these lines that M. Gauthier de Clagny developed his interpellation on the Humbert family. In replying, the Minis-ter of Justice effected that M. Humbert had s no argument against the Republic, Fat M. Valle set the Nationalists in a lace. They dushed toward him, shouting haults and as the Deputies of the majority can forward to his defense, the floor of the Chimber was filled with struggling men. the are willing to risk the drafts, 50,000 persons were Marie Foot Brafts last year, and we are still sending them on approved to every sufferer we can hear of.

Chamber was filled with struggling men, graspling and striking one another. The Chamber was so to speak the victim of a violent and general attack of a violent and general attack of the tribune and floor were cleared with difficulty and an order expelling the two most excited Deputtes was passed. Both were Nationalists—MM. Paul Constant and Sycilic.

As they refused to withdraw, it was necessary to call in soldiers, who took the two Deputies out

SENATORIAL ELECTIONS. All this, however, constituted an incident of no great importance, and the French po-litical world attaches more weight to the Jorial elections, which take place on uary 4, and which will affect one-third of the seats in the upper house.

Already manifestoes have been issued to hie senatorial electers. The first was from he group of progressist Senators, headed y M. Charles Prelet. It is a charge against he Radeal majority, a denunciation of the orduct of the Combes Government and a grey black detune of the financial size. black picture of the financial situa-very black picture of the financial situation.

And the call to arms came from the Comite de Lux. Union Liberale Republication, of which M. Henry Barboux is president. In this is to be found a like enumeration of the missleeds of the Cabinet and a declaration that not since 1870 has France been so hadly governed as it is at present. But the Union Liberale and its president lay special siress upon the projudice done to the freedom of education by the present Cabinet, which has closed so many Congregationist schools.

Both these manifestoes ought to have wound up with an exhortation to the sentiatrial electors no longer to elect Republicans, but the authors of the documents declare themselves Republicans. They do not dure to go to the length I have indo not dare to go to the length I have in-dicated. They limit themselves to advising the electors to select their representatives with discernment, which, after all, does not mean much, for nobody would venture to give contrary advice and point out to the electors the advantages of selections made without discernment.

The most sallent thing in all this is that the military party and the Nationalists can spare themselves the labor of a political demonstration, for the Republicans, progressive or moderate, speak for them or replace them.

The strike of the "Inscrits maritimes" continues at Marseilles, where the passenger and even the postal service is temporarily suspended, except when the work can be done by men-of-warsmen; but attempts to initiate similar strikes at Rouen and Havre seem to have failed.

KING AND QUEEN BUYING MANY CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

And Old-Fashioned Tree Will Bring Delight to Younger Members of the Royal Family.

SPECIAL BY CARLE TO THE NEW YORK HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC. London, Dec. E .- (Copyright, 1902.)-A Christmas in the air, or, perhaps, it would

London, Dec. E.—(Copyright, 1992.)—A Christmas in the air, or, perhaps, it would be better to say, in the shop windows. The cold, dry weather has brought people up to town in thousands, and the West End shopping districts are crowded. Responding to the demand for toys, France, Germany and Russia have sent tons of ingenious knicknacks and playthings, which quite overshadow the British-made articles.
The royal family hold an old-time celebration on Christmas Day. Nowhere will the fessive season be more thoroughly a family function than at Sandringnum,
where the Queen has never missed having a Christmas tree.
In society circles the five-foot fir on the dinner table will be replaced by a neat dwarf shrub, from whose frosted branches
will hang the most modern of pickings, containing, perhaps, diamonds, in one form or another, gold thimbles, a jeweled heart
or tourquoise pins or earrings.
In many country houses the outspreading
fir will still reign.
A novelty has been introduced this season
which seems likely to gain popularity, junging from the big sale it has already commanded. It is the "old woman's shoe," which is sold in different sizes, from those several feet long to those of quite small dimensions. It is made of anything from slik to serge, and is adorned with 3old, silver or bronze tinsel. All sorts of gifts are easily stowed away in the space inside.
No one gives smarter presents than King Edward. He gives dainty little jeweled pencil cases of enamel, tortoise shell and diamond knicknacks, bangles and uncommon lucky charms. To some of his dyspeptit friends and he has been known to give little sold boxes, held by a gold chain, for tadid and pills, while cigar cases and cigarotte holders of the newest designs are also received by his favored acquaintances.

Queen Alexandra gives many photographic frames of the most dainty and delicate obserption, of exquisitely chiseled gilt, with hand-painted mounts.

The Queen takes the greatest pains to buy suitable gifts for all kinds of people.

AMERICAN QUICK LUNCH BARS IN WORLD'S METROPOLIS.

SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE NEW YORK HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC. HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC.
London, Dec. 13.—(Copyright, 1902.)—Three American quick-lunch bars are shortly to be opened in London. Already the appetites of business men and clerks in the neighborhood of the Bank and the Strand have been excited by the announcement that thirty kinds of pie will be served daily, besides other articles of food, plain and fancy.
The bars will be run without waiters, the customers helping themselves and paying for what they cat. There is much interest in watching how the American habit of eating rapidly while standing in front of a bar will take with the English public.

GOLF PROFESSIONALS ADOPT RUBBER BALLS.

SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE NEW YORK HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC. London, Dec. 13 .- (Copyright, 1982.) - English golf professionals have got together and given the use of fast rubber-covered balls a black eye. There have not been wanting rumors that English manufacturers of the gutta percha ball brought considerable pressure to bear in influencing the decision come to. But the professionals, one and all, deny this, and strongly declarethat they had only the best interests of the game at heart.

The deed was done at the first annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Asso-

The deed was done at the lift annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association, held this week. It was proposed by James Braid and seconded by C. R. Smith that, for the present, gutta percha balls only be used in the tournaments promoted by the association. This proposition was eventually carried by 32 votes to 9.

Tames Braid, Harry Varion, Willie Weston, Percy Hills and others spoke strongly in favor of the superiority of the gutta over rubber covered balls as a test of skill. Vardon considered that, with the latter, the player had two chances to one. If, insteady of lofting the ball to the green, as he intended to do, the player topped it, he still reached the green, which, Vardon contended, did not encourage scientific golf.

This discussion, of course, applies only to professional events. The Royal and Ancient Golf Rules Committee, whose laws are absolute in Great Britain, and carry weight wherever golf is played, will not render its decision until next May. It is intimated, however, that a strong sentiment exists in favor of similar action on their part.
